ABSTRACT

This annual report provides information about the costs of attending colleges and universities. Although most of the institutions listed are in the US, some Canadian institutions are included as well as a number of junior and community colleges. Specific purposes of this publication are to: help financial aid officers verify schooling allowances; facilitate cooperation among colleges with mutual aid applicants; serve as a reference for scholarship sponsors; and create a greater awareness of college costs and subsequent demand for financial aid to students. Expenses reported cover a normal academic year. Data are divided into sections on: state, tuition and fees, resident budgets, and out-of-state charges. Preceding presentation of the tabular data is an explanation of the role of the College Scholarship Service. (JS)

Student Expense Budgets of Colleges and Universities for the 1969-70 Academic Year

The College Scholarship Service (CSS) is an activity of the College Entrance Examination Board. Operational services for the College Scholarship Service are administered by Educational Testing Service.

The role of the CSS is to foster cooperative efforts - in the form of services, activities, publications, and research - by and for institutions of higher learning, secondary schools, and others concerned with the problems of financial aid for students. The purpose of these efforts is to ease the restrictions that the expenses of an education and family financial limitations place upon the accessibility of higher education. As an additional effort to reduce such restrictions, participants in the College Scholarship Service adopted a statement in 1961 entitled "College Financial Aid Principles." While these principles are not presumed to be exhaustive or entirely appropriate to all colleges, they do express a general financial aid philosophy to which a large number of institutions subscribe. Basic to this philosophy is the belief that the educational opportunities of able students should not be determined by their financial resources. The principles are as follows:

1. The primary purpose of a college's financial aid program should be to provide financial assistance to students who, without such aid, would be unable to attend the college.
2. Financial assistance consists of scholarships, loans, and employment, which may be offered to students singly or in various combinations.
3. The family of a student is expected to make a maximum effort to assist the student with college expenses. Financial assistance from colleges and other sources should be viewed only as supplementary to the efforts of the family.
4. In selecting students with need to receive financial assistance, the college should place primary emphasis upon their academic achievement, character, and future promise.
5. The total amount of financial assistance offered a student by a college and by other sources should not exceed the amount he needs.
6. In determining the extent of a student's financial need, the college should take into account the financial support which may be expected from the income, assets, and other resources of the parents and the student.
7. In estimating the amount that a student's family can provide for college expenses, the college should consider the factors that affect a family's financial strength: current income, assets, number of dependents, other educational expenses, debts, retirement needs. In addition, it should consider such special problems as those confronting widows and families in which both parents work.

8. A student who needs financial aid should provide a reasonable part of the total amount required to meet college costs by accepting employment, or a loan, or both. Acceptance of a loan, however, should not be considered by the college as a prerequisite to the award of a scholarship or job.

9. Because the amount of financial assistance awarded usually reflects the financial situation of the student's family, a public announcement of the amount by the college is undesirable.

10. Consultation between colleges on the kind and amount of financial assistance to be offered a mutual candidate should be encouraged, since this assures relatively equal aid offers to the student, making it possible for him to choose a college on educational rather than financial grounds. This benefits both the student and the college.

11. The college should clearly state the total yearly cost of attendance and should outline for each student seeking assistance an estimate of his financial need.

12. The college should review its financial assistance awards annually and adjust them, if necessary, in type and amount to reflect changes in the financial needs of students and the cost of attending the institution, as well as to carry out the college's clearly stated policies on upper-class renewals.

13. The college itself should make every effort, and should cooperate with schools and other colleges, to encourage college attendance by all able students.

14. The college should strive, through its publications and other communications, to provide schools, parents, and students with factual information about its aid opportunities, programs, and practices.

The College Scholarship Service, to encourage the implementation of the above principles, produces each year this technical report which provides information about costs of attending colleges. Most institutions located within the United States, some Canadian institutions and a number of junior and community colleges are included. Not all colleges or universities are listed; some do not appear because they requested exclusion, filed incomplete data, or returned their cost information too late to be included.

The specific purposes of the technical report are (1) to assist financial aid officers in verifying schooling allowances, (2) to facilitate cooperation between colleges with mutual aid applicants, (3) to serve as a reference for sponsors of scholarships and (4) to create a greater awareness of college costs and the subsequent demand for financial aid to students.

Although central processing of the Parents' Confidential Statement now makes a more sensitive computation of parents' contribution for families with more than one child in college, the financial aid officer may wish to make some adjustments to the parents' contribution in terms of the costs at the siblings' institutions. With regard to other children in college, parents are asked to submit current costs and not anticipated costs. The cost figures in the technical report will be extremely valuable in updating the cost figures reported by parents or in simply verifying the figures provided.

The contents of the report were compiled from data submitted by each institution to the College Scholarship Service on the "College Estimate of Student Expenses Report." The information is reported as submitted by the individual colleges, except as noted below in the definitions of the various sections of the report. If an institution did not respond to the circularization requesting 1969-70 data, the most recent cost figures available have been used. It was necessary to leave certain sections of the report blank, as a few institutions did not provide cost information for all sections.

The expenses reported are for a normal academic year. Each report on a college is divided into the following sections:

1. State - abbreviations used are those listed in the Bulletin of Information, College Board Admissions Tests. CN is used to indicate Canada.
2. "*" - indicates an institution that has a guaranteed tuition or fixed cost plan.
3. Tuition and Fees - includes tuition, general, university, college or state institutional fees if identified. In some cases, adjustments or averages were used, since variable changes for certain curriculums or student classifications could not be accommodated.
4. Resident budgets - includes all tuition charges, fees, room and board, books, personal expenses and travel allowances entered by the institution.
5. Commuting budgets - includes all tuition charges, fees, books, commutation and maintenance allowances entered by the college or university.
6. Out-of-state charges - includes the additional fee the college or university entered as a charge to students who are not residents of the state in which the institution is located. Some colleges also have charges for out-of-community or out-of-district students. For convenience these have been combined and shown as out-of-state charges.
7. "@" - indicates an institution that has not submitted 1969-70 cost figures, as of the date of publication of the report.

The staff of the College Scholarship Service hopes that the technical report will be helpful, and it welcomes comments that will assist in the preparation of future editions.
